The Administration Department of Cathay FHC shall conduct risk assessment on issues of human rights, incorporate outside expectations, and communicate with key stakeholders periodically.

Article 4 (Basic Human Rights Principles)
I. Diversity, inclusion, and equal opportunity: No employee shall be treated with different language, attitudes, or behavior that discriminate against their gender, sexual orientation, race, socioeconomic status, age, marital status, family status, language, religion, political affiliation, nationality, appearance, facial features, or physical or mental disability. A policy of non-discriminatory treatment in employment shall be implemented to ensure fairness and impartiality in employment, remuneration and benefits, training, evaluations, and promotion opportunities.
Furthermore, an efficient and appropriate grievance mechanism shall be provided to prevent and to respond to situations that endanger the rights and interests of employees, so as to create an equal-opportunity work environment that is free of discrimination and harassment. Periodic follow-ups shall be conducted on the status of the implementation of diversity, inclusion, and equal opportunity.

II. Non-discrimination and anti-harassment: A zero-tolerance policy shall be adopted for any form of workplace harassment, and the Code of Conduct for Employee, the Code of Ethics as well as the Rules for Prevention and Complaint and Discipline of Sexual Harassment shall be formulated and announced. Furthermore, effective and appropriate grievance and punishment mechanisms shall be provided to create an equal-opportunity work environment that is free of discrimination and harassment.

III. Reasonable working hours: It is ensured that employees will not be at risk of working overtime by clearly defining the rules for working hours and overtime hours as well as conducting periodic care and management of employee attendance.

IV. Safe and healthy workplace: The health and safety risks of employees shall be inspected periodically and improvement plans shall be implemented based on the identified results.

V. Freedom of association: The Code of Conduct for Employee stipulates that employees within the Group are entitled to the freedom of association. Diverse clubs have also been established, and employees are encouraged to join the clubs.

VI. Labor-management negotiations: Smooth communication channels shall be established and periodic labor-management meetings shall be held to assure the rights and benefits of both parties.

VII. Privacy protection: To ensure full protection of the privacy of customers and all stakeholders, a comprehensive information security management mechanism shall be established and control regulations as well as protection measures shall be strictly complied with.
