INVESTMENT BANKING

In July 2009, Singapore Technologies Engineering issued 10-year bonds with an interest rate of 4.80% for a total value of US$500 million on the international capital markets. The issue was the first under the US$1.2 billion medium-term note programme that the company set up in early July 2009. Singaporean investors took just under 45% of the issue, with Hong Kong buyers taking about 37% and most of the remainder allocated to UK accounts. Morgan Stanley is one of two banks arranging the medium-term note programme and managing the first issue.

In November 2009, Lockheed Martin issued bonds for a total of US$1.5 billion in two tranches. The first tranche was for US$900 million in ten-year bonds and the second tranche was for US$600 million in thirty-year bonds. The proceeds were used for general corporate purposes. Morgan Stanley was one of the four bookrunners and contributed an estimated US$250 million to the 12-bank issuing syndicate.
